

THE ROLE AND IMPORTANCE OF CONSULTATIVE MEETINGS OF THE LEADERS OF CENTRAL ASIAN STATES IN CENTRAL ASIAN INTEGRATION

Dilrabo Sadikova

Independent researcher at the University of World Economy and Diplomacy.

Yashinov Umarbek Uktamovich

Student at the University of World Economy and Diplomacy.

Boliyev Shoxro'z Alisher o'g'li

Student at the University of World Economy and Diplomacy.

Annotation. This article analyzes the current stage of regional integration processes in Central Asia, with particular emphasis on the role and significance of the Consultative Meetings of the Heads of State of Central Asia. These meetings are considered as a flexible and informal mechanism for promoting regional cooperation, enhancing political dialogue, expanding economic interaction, and strengthening regional security. The study concludes that this format plays a significant role in building mutual trust, aligning national interests, and shaping a sustainable model of regional integration in Central Asia.

Keywords: Central Asia, regional integration, consultative meetings, political dialogue, economic cooperation, regional security.

Introduction. Modern international relationship in the system regional integration processes countries development important from factors one as manifestation Globalization is happening under the circumstances economic of competition intensification, political instability risks and transnational threats increasing progress regional cooperation mechanisms develop necessity to the surface this point is from the point of view in the Central Asian region integration issue separately scientific and practical importance profession will reach.

Central Asian countries general historical roots, cultural proximity and economic interests to the common good has although, from independence next initial in the period regional integration processes enough at the level did not develop. Last in years and in the region open communication, mutual confidence and pragmatic to cooperation based new political environment is being formed. This in process Central Asian countries leaders' advice meetings important integration mechanism as to the field is coming out.

THEORETICAL FOUNDATIONS OF CENTRAL ASIAN INTEGRATION

Regional integration theories countries in the middle economic and political convergence interests harmony based on formation emphasizes. However Central Asian integration classic integration from model's different dead, firm from institutionalization see flexible and optional to cooperation is based on.

This model main features of the following consists of :

- national to sovereignty respect principle priority ;
- integration processes step by step development ;
- pragmatic and to the interests based approach ;
- external geopolitical effects balancing necessity.

That's it. under the circumstances advice meetings Central Asian integration for the most as an acceptable format is taking shape.

INSTITUTIONAL NATURE OF CONSULTATION MEETINGS

Central Asian countries leaders' advice meetings official international from organizations different accordingly mandatory legal to mechanisms has they are informal, open and flexible communication platform to be, state to the leaders' current regional issues directly discussion to do opportunity gives.

This of meetings main advantages of the following consists of :

- political of communication high level ;
- decisions fast discussion to do opportunity ;
- each other confidence environment strengthening;
- integration processes without obligation develop opportunity.

ROLE IN POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC INTEGRATION

Advisory meetings Central in Asia political stability in strengthening important role Heads of state are playing. between regular communication border, water and energy and security such as complicated issues constructive in spirit solution to reach service is doing.

Economic in terms of these meetings:

- trade and economic cooperation expansion;
- transport and logistics infrastructure development;
- investment the environment improve;
- of the region general competitiveness to increase ground is creating.

SAFETY AND HUMANITARIAN COOPERATION

Central Asia region extremism, illegal migration and ecological problems such as transnational to threats face is coming. Advice meetings this to problems relatively coordinated approaches working exit opportunity gives.

Also, culture, education and science in the fields cooperation peoples between trust strengthening and integration humanitarian the foundation creates.

Conclusion. Conclusion as in other words, Central Asia countries leaders' advice meetings regional integration in the processes efficient, flexible and to oneself typical cooperation mechanism as formed going highlight This is necessary. format region countries between mutual to trust based political communication development, national interests' harmonization and current regional to problems agreed approaches working exit opportunity research in the process as determined, advice meetings strict institutional without obligations, national sovereignty principles contrary not been without integration processes step by step to develop service is doing.

Scientific analyzes (A. Acharya, A. Hurrell, R. Allison, A. Libman and E. Vinokurov) that shows that the official supranational institutes enough at the level unformed in the regions informal and flexible cooperation mechanisms integration important driving force power this is theoretical approach Central Asia under the circumstances advice meetings format relevance scientific in terms of the state leaders between regular communication political stability strengthening, trade and economic connections expansion, transport and logistics and energy in the fields cooperation develop and regional to safety threat eater to factors relatively coordinated approaches in formation important role is playing.

In general, when receiving, Central Asia countries leaders' advice meetings in the region far long-term, stable and inclusive integration model to form service. This is format consistent continue to be carried out Central Asia global political and economic in processes instead strengthening the region international prestige increase and general development prospects provision point from the point of view important importance profession will reach.

This article 's scientific importance is that the Central Asia countries leader's advice meetings regional integration separately and independent mechanism as scientific in terms of based on was given. Research during Central Asia integration classic regional integration models with comparative analysis done increased, advice meetings of the region political, economic and security in the fields to oneself typical to the needs suitable incoming flexible integration model that was also determined. of meetings mutual confidence environment reinforcement and national interests in harmonization role complex approach based on open was given.

This research results of practical importance from that consists of the Central Asia in the region regional cooperation and integration policy formation and improvement in the processes practical importance. In particular, the state management organs and external politics offices by advice meetings format further development, their day order designation and priority directions in determining research from the conclusions use. It is also possible that article international relations, regional integration and diplomacy in the directions education giver supreme education in institutions educational-methodical material as and research in their work theoretical source as application possible.

References

1. Acharya, A. (2014). Regionalism and World Order: A Comparative Perspective. Oxford: Oxford University Press.
2. Hurrell, A. (2016). Regionalism in theoretical perspective. International Affairs, 92 (3), 541–559.
3. Allison, R. (2018). Central Asia and the dynamics of regional cooperation. International Affairs, 94(3), 545–562.
4. Libman, A., & Vinokurov, E. (2017). Regional Integration in Eurasia: Institutions, Ideas and Identity. London: Palgrave Macmillan.
5. Buzan, B., & Wæver, O. (2003). Regions and Powers: The Structure of International Security. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press.
6. Mansfield, ED, & Milner, HV (1999). The political economy of regionalism. International Organization, 53(3), 589–627.
7. Fawcett, L. (2013). The history and concept of regionalism. In L. Fawcett (Ed.), The Oxford Handbook of Regionalism. Oxford: Oxford University Press.
8. Söderbaum, F. (2016). Rethinking Regionalism. London: Palgrave Macmillan.
9. Kassenova, N. (2019). Central Asia's regional cooperation: Challenges and opportunities. Asian Affairs, 50(1), 30–45.
10. Bohr, A. (2020). Regionalism in Central Asia: New momentum? Survival, 62(2), 97–114.
11. Laruelle, M. (2018). Russia's Central Asia Policy and the Role of Regional Cooperation. Washington, DC: George Washington University Press.
12. Dadabaev, T. (2020). Informal regionalism and trust-building in Central Asia. Journal of Eurasian Studies, 11(2), 123–135.
13. Tolipov, F. (2018). Regional integration in Central Asia: Current trends and prospects. Central Asia and the Caucasus, 19(4), 7–20.